The primary objective of this study is to compare the bioavailability of the Company’s abuse deterrent product to that from the reference listed drug under fasted and fed conditions.

The healing influence of the oil of the Ricinus communis has been documented thousands of times now, and the following stories just amplify the documentation.

A small number of children who are born prematurely or with low birth weight may be at a greater risk for ASDs.

When females in clinical trials used 10 percent of the testosterone dose recommended for males, none of them had a response.

as I spent hundreds of pounds on some artificial, unnatural junk that doesn’t work, while